

Deputy to the National Member for the United Kingdom
Eurojust

[\[REDACTED\]@eurojust.europa.eu](mailto:[REDACTED]@eurojust.europa.eu)

From: [REDACTED]@cps.gsi.gov.uk]

Sent: 08 December 2011 14:53

To: [REDACTED]

Cc: [REDACTED]

Subject: RE: Eurojust Request for Assistance - Assange - Urgent

[REDACTED] is running this and I have forwarded it to him.

From: [REDACTED]@eurojust.europa.eu]

Sent: 08 December 2011 13:23

To: [REDACTED]

Cc: SCD Extradition; [REDACTED]

Subject: RE: Eurojust Request for Assistance - Assange - Urgent

From: [REDACTED]

Sent: 08 December 2011 14:20

To: [REDACTED]

Cc: 'scd.extraditions@cps.gsi.gov.uk'; [REDACTED]

Subject: Eurojust Request for Assistance - Assange - Urgent

[REDACTED] / Dear colleagues

[REDACTED] has received the e-mail set out below from the Swedish National Member and the requests for clarification have been re-enforced by a visit I have just received from the Swedish Assistant at Eurojust.

The questions raised by the Swedish Desk are set out in that e-mail.

In short I think the intense media interest in Sweden has led to speculation and rumour. I have left [REDACTED] a message on his voicemail but can you please assist with a short note setting out the latest state of play?

In short –

1. Is there any information about when the Supreme Court is likely to issue its decision on whether to grant or refuse leave to appeal?
2. Possible scenarios / timetables that might follow?
3. Reassurance regarding liaison with the Swedish authorities as matters progress?
4. A copy of the court judgement of 5 December 2011 would be helpful.

Many thanks as always

13/12/2011

226

Deputy to the National Member for the United Kingdom
Eurojust
[redacted]@eurojust.europa.eu
[redacted]

From: [redacted]
Sent: 08 Decémber 2011 13:44
To: [redacted]
Cc: [redacted], College Secretariat, College United Kingdom
Subject: Re: Assange pick up

Dear [redacted]
You are right that I am away from the office as [redacted] also has been.
I think the idea that the Supreme Court would decide on Christmas Day whether to give permission for Assange to appeal is very unlikely (English humour?)
I shall ask the UK Desk to make enquiries about the questions raised

Dear All
Could the CPS Extradition Unit be contacted re the queries above and for a copy of the recent judgment, please
Regards
[redacted]

From: [redacted]
Sent: Thursday, December 08, 2011 01:10 PM
To: [redacted]
Cc: [redacted] College Secretariat
Subject: Assange pick up

Dear [redacted]
I have talked to the prosecutor responsible for the case, director for public prosecutions [redacted].
She has heard that the Supreme Court is preparing to present the decision on Christmas Day. Could this be correct?
If not, when will the decision be public.

Due to the description in media I'm rather optimistic to the outcome of the case. As Sweden has to be ready to pick up Mr Asange asap after a positive decision it is extremely important to have a very good dialogue with UK authorities. It is my experience in similar situations from Eurojust it is important with a pick as close to the decision as possible to avoid conflicts with an expected appeal to the European Court of Human Rights. After the 10 days time frame there are no longer a possibility to have coercive measures against Mr
A.

We have heard that Mr A has no permission for a permanent stay in the UK. Is this correct and what impact will it in that case have on the situation after the decision of the Supreme Court?

I asked [redacted] to inform [redacted] as we heard that you were in Brussels all Thursday.

I'm in Sweden until late on Monday but will be possible to reach via BB or mobile phone.

[redacted]
National Member for Sweden

This message was sent from my Blackberry device

13/12/2011

227